ROUTE DOSSIER · 2027 DEPARTURES

THE BOYACÁ TRAVERSE

Pedalea la Leyenda de Boyacá

From the sacred lake of El Dorado to the roads of the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial.

MAIN DEPARTURE · JANUARY 22 – 31, 2027

10 DAYS · 9 NIGHTS · 6 STAGES · 385 KM · +5,200 M · 10 PLACES

RIDETHEANDES.CO · BOYACÁ · COLOMBIA

THE INVITATION

This is not a tour. It's a homecoming.

There are one hundred and twenty-three municipalities in Boyacá, and I have ridden a bicycle into every single one of them. Not for a record — because I needed to know, kilometre by kilometre, what my land was made of.

What I found was a territory that produces climbers the way other places produce wheat: children training at three thousand metres, gradients that give nothing for free, villages where a national champion was born on the main street. And between the climbs — clay-pot towns, sacred lakes, colonial plazas, and a warmth that turns a hard day on the bike into something closer to family.

Ride The Andes exists to give that Boyacá back to the world the way it deserves: from the saddle, at altitude, earned. This dossier is the journey we built for it — ten days from the lagoon where the legend of El Dorado was born to the roads of the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial, the 2,000-rider event I have the honour of directing shoulder to shoulder with my father — ten editions and counting.

> You won't visit Boyacá. You'll be let into it — by the people who are Boyacá.

Ten places per departure. Four windows in 2027, with January as our main one — and always the same small group, riding as one.

We ride soon,

Sergio Contreras

FOUNDER & LEAD GUIDE · DIRECTOR, GRAN FONDO BOYACÁ MUNDIAL · RIDER OF ALL 123

The Reto 123 · where it all began

The place, and the reason.

Two things you should understand before you read a single day of the itinerary: where you're going, and what you're riding into on the last morning.

THE TERRITORY

Why Boyacá

Colombia produces climbers, and Boyacá produces Colombia's climbers.

Nairo Quintana, Miguel Ángel "Supermán" López, Mauricio Soler — all born in Boyacá — and, across the wider Cundiboyacense high plateau, Lucho Herrera, Egan Bernal and Daniel Felipe Martínez. A disproportionate share of the country's cycling nobility learned to suffer on these roads. It isn't mysticism. It's altitude: an entire high country living, working and racing between 2,500 and 3,500 metres, where children ride to school up gradients that would end most amateurs' weekends.

The rest is what nobody tells you. Boyacá is where Colombia became a country — the Puente de Boyacá, the Pantano de Vargas. It holds the continent's largest cobbled plaza, an ancient seabed turned desert, and the highest great lake in the country with a white-sand beach at 3,000 metres.

Ninety minutes from Bogotá, and almost entirely absent from international cycling itineraries.

THE FINALE

Why the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial

Most cycling holidays end with a ride. Yours ends on a legendary course.

The Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial is the biggest mass-participation road event in Boyacá: more than 2,000 riders rolling out of Duitama on closed roads, through the department that raised half the Colombian peloton. It has run ten editions since 2016 — and it is directed by your guide.

Its course is not incidental. It climbs the Alto del Cogollo, the ascent used for the 1995 UCI Road World Championships, when Indurain, Pantani and Olano raced past front doors in Duitama. Local riders have never stopped measuring themselves on it.

Your final stage rides that course with the man who directs it — every climb, every village and the same finish in Duitama, on open roads and at your own pace. On the October departure it is the real thing: an official start, a real result, and 2,000 Colombians who will drag you up climbs, shout at you in Spanish, and hand you an aguapanela at the top. Either way you finish something that existed long before you arrived and will continue long after.

NOT A CLOSED COURSE

You ride the same roads as the locals, all week — village dogs, chiva buses, farmers on the shoulder. This is a living territory, not a corridor.

NOT A SPECTATOR

You don't watch Colombian cycling culture. You ride its most storied course with the man who directs it — and in October, with a number on your back.

NOT REPLICABLE

Ten days built by the event's own director, on roads he has ridden in all 123 municipalities. No outside operator has this access.

THE JOURNEY AT A GLANCE

From El Dorado to the finish line.

Six ride stages threaded through ten days of gastronomy, history and recovery — sequenced so your body acclimatises before the big days, with the course of the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial saved for last.

The Gran Fondo course

Your finale rides the course of the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial with the man who directs it. On the October departure, it is race day: an official start among 2,000+ riders.

Guided by the man who rode all 123

Every road on this route has been ridden — many times — by the founder who cycled all 123 municipalities of Boyacá. This is territory, not itinerary.

The Legends Trail

Rigoberto Urán's finca, Egan Bernal's Zipaquirá, Nairo Quintana's childhood climbs — the pilgrimage of Colombian cycling, woven into your week.

Sequenced for altitude

Lower valleys first, high country later, recovery built in — thermal springs, spa afternoons and a rest day exactly where your legs need it.

DAY BY DAY

The journey, hour by hour

01 Bienvenidos a Colombia

FRIDAY, JANUARY 22 · ARRIVAL DAY

NIGHT IN
BOGOTÁ · NEAR THE AIRPORT

Your flight Personal reception at El Dorado International — a Ride The Andes team member waits for you at arrivals. Private transfer to the hotel minutes away; your bike case goes into the crew's custody from this moment on — overnight, our mechanic builds and fine-tunes your bike, ready before you are.

20:30 Welcome dinner & ride briefing · INCLUDED — meet the team, walk through the route, altitude guidance and the logistics of the next ten days. We start in Cundinamarca, on the Bogotá savanna, before crossing into Boyacá. Landing late? We receive you and catch you up.

02 The Legend of El Dorado

STAGE 1 · 34 KM · +290 M

SATURDAY, JANUARY 23 · PROLOGUE

NIGHT IN
ZIPAQUIRÁ · COLONIAL CASONA

07:00 Breakfast at the hotel · INCLUDED

07:45 Van to Guatavita, the town of the sacred lagoon where the legend of El Dorado was born.

10:00 Stage 1 — the Prologue: an opening spin from the land of the legend toward Sopó across the savanna. Easy legs, first taste of altitude — and the first of the region's coffees we'll taste through the week (there's always an emergency coffee in the support van).

12:00 Lunch at Finca de Rigo · INCLUDED — Rigoberto Urán's restaurant on the Bogotá savanna, a pilgrimage stop for the country's cyclists. Urán is from Urrao in Antioquia, but this table near Chía is loved across Colombia. Cycling history on every wall.

16:00 Historic Zipaquirá on foot: the murals honouring Egan Bernal, Tour de France champion raised on these streets — then the Salt Cathedral, an architectural marvel carved 180 metres underground inside a working salt mine.

19:00 Dinner at the hotel · INCLUDED

Guatavita — where the legend begins

03 The Road to Independence

STAGE 2 · 53 KM · +527 M

SUNDAY, JANUARY 24

NIGHT IN
VILLA DE LEYVA

- 07:45 Van to the Puente de Boyacá — the bridge where Colombia's independence was sealed in 1819.
- 09:30 Stage 2: now in Boyacá — from the bridge of liberty to the town of artisans, on colonial roads through the department's valleys.
- 12:00 Arrival in Ráquira, Colombia's craft capital and town of the clay pots. Snack · INCLUDED and photos in one of the country's most colourful plazas.
- 14:00 Lunch in Villa de Leyva · INCLUDED — and for dessert, a mandatory stop: the legendary milhoja at La Galleta.
- 17:00 Heated indoor pool, sauna and steam room at the hotel; spa massages bookable at reception (USD 38, not included). Or simply wander the Plaza Mayor — the largest cobbled square on the continent.
- Night Free evening in Villa de Leyva: dinner wherever you like — the town is full of great tables — a beer or two, and the magic of the colonial night.

04 The Desert & the Dinosaurs

STAGE 3 · 53.3 KM · +759 M

MONDAY, JANUARY 25

NIGHT IN
VILLA DE LEYVA

- 09:00 Stage 3: an ancient seabed turned ochre badlands — the most unexpected landscape of the tour.
- 11:00 Stop at Gondava, the valley of the dinosaurs: real fossils from the era when this desert was a sea, right on the route. Snack · INCLUDED
- 13:30 To Sutamarchán for the most Boyacense lunch of all: la fritanga · INCLUDED — built around Colombia's finest longaniza, artisan-made with lean pork, deep smoke and natural spices, with chicharrón, morcilla, papa criolla and house-made ají.
- 16:00 Thermal springs — two hours of hot-water recovery for the legs.
- 20:00 Second free evening in Villa de Leyva.

Villa de Leyva — the largest cobbled square on the continent

DAY 05 · TUESDAY, JANUARY 26 · REST DAY

Tierra de campeones: The Legends Trail.

No pedalling today — your legs recover while your imagination keeps going. A day driving the roads where champions were made, ending at 3,015 metres on the shore of Colombia's greatest lake.

09:00 · ARCABUCO

Nairo Quintana's training roads

The very climbs where the greatest escarabajo of his generation was forged — winner of the Giro d'Italia and the Vuelta a España.

10:00 · LA CASA DE NAIRO

Where the story began

A stop at the house where Nairo lived with his parents — photos and onces (a Boyacá mid-morning bite, included) at the origin point of a legend.

12:30 · NOBSA

Live-fire lunch, Rincón de las Campanas

A live-fire grill set at the centre of your own table: choose your cuts and watch the parrillero take them from ember to plate, right in front of you. Fire, smoke and Boyacá flavour. INCLUDED

14:00 · TIBASOSA & NOBSA

The afternoon of the pueblos

Ruana country — colonial balconies, weaving workshops and artisan tradition, at van pace with all the stops worth making.

18:00 · LAGO DE TOTA

Check-in on the lakeshore at 3,015 metres — your basecamp for the queen days. Dinner by the water · INCLUDED. Tomorrow, the mountain.

Lago de Tota — basecamp at 3,015 m

06 The Queen Stage

STAGE 4 · 51.6 KM · +1,004 M

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 27 · ALTO DEL CRUCERO

NIGHT IN
LAGO DE TOTA

07:45 The Queen Stage: descend from the lake to the thermal village of Iza, then the great test of the tour — the climb to Alto del Crucero, the pass every rider dreams of conquering. Field-verified, crew at your side.

12:30 Lunch at the hotel · INCLUDED — shower, rest, and the satisfaction of the biggest climb behind you.

14:00 Catamaran to Isla San Pedro, the largest lake island in Colombia — aboard a two-deck catamaran unique in the region: loungers, hammock, permanent coffee station, music and a 360° viewing deck.

16:00 Playa Blanca — white sand at high altitude: a natural beach at 3,000 metres. The impossible contrast — beach, mountain cold and Andean light — with photos and regional coffee.

19:30 Lakeside dinner · INCLUDED — a gastronomic experience around the trout fished from Lago de Tota itself.

Playa Blanca — white sand at 3,000 metres

07 Lago de Tota, In Full

STAGE 5 · 49.8 KM · +506 M

THURSDAY, JANUARY 28

NIGHT IN
PAIPA · ESTELAR HOTEL

07:45 Stage 5: Colombia's highest great lake traced in full by bike, between onion fields and blue Andean water.

11:00 Stage ends in Firavitoba — snack · INCLUDED, then a van transfer to the Pantano de Vargas: site of the battle that turned the independence campaign, crowned by Colombia's largest sculpture — 33 metres for the charge of the 14 lancers.

13:00 Check-in at the Estelar Hotel y Centro de Convenciones in Paipa, on the shore of Lake Sochagota. Lunch · INCLUDED

15:00 Spa afternoon: jacuzzi, steam, sauna and massage — the recovery your legs are asking for before the finale.

19:00 Dinner at the Club Náutico · INCLUDED, overlooking Lake Sochagota.

The same roads, every rhythm — Lago de Tota

08 Monguí & Tejo

EVE OF THE FINALE

FRIDAY, JANUARY 29

NIGHT IN PAIPA

10:00 Pueblito Boyacense, cultural heritage of Colombia: clay-tile roofs, balconies and cobblestones — the region's architecture gathered in one living village of artists and artisans.

12:00 Monguí — one of Colombia's most beautiful pueblos and the cradle of hand-stitched footballs. More than lunch: a partial route recon with our riders — reading the road surface, the weather and part of tomorrow's Monguí climb. Riverside lunch near the Calicanto Bridge · INCLUDED

15:00 Tejo afternoon back in Duitama: Boyacá's traditional sport. Gunpowder, aim and laughter — the perfect ritual before the finale.

18:00 Back to the hotel — kit prep and an early wind-down.

19:00 Pre-stage dinner at the hotel · INCLUDED — the carb-loading ritual every rider knows. Early to bed; tomorrow is the big one.

09 The Gran Fondo Course

STAGE 6 · THE FINALE

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30 · 143.6 KM / +2,120 M — OR MEDIO FONDO 103.2 KM / +1,403 M

NIGHT IN PAIPA

Morning Early breakfast · INCLUDED — then to Duitama with the crew.

The stage The course of the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial, ridden with the man who directs it — through Monguí and over the Alto del Cogollo. Full course or Medio Fondo, on open roads: lead moto ahead, support van behind, feed stops from the van. Push it, or ride it as a rolling celebration.

Finish You roll into Duitama. The traverse is complete. Lunch · INCLUDED

19:30 Farewell dinner · INCLUDED — music, dancing and one last Boyacá night done properly. The stories are forever.

October On the 9–18 October departure this day is race day: an official start at the eleventh edition, Sunday 17 October 2027 — closed roads, chip timing, medal and 2,000+ riders.

10 Hasta pronto, Boyacá

SUNDAY, JANUARY 31 · DEPARTURE

FIN DEL TOUR

09:30 Private van to Bogotá — bikes packed by our mechanic.

14:00 Arrival at El Dorado International. Un abrazo — and see you on the next climb.

WHAT'S INCLUDED

One transparent price.

Here's exactly what your journey covers — and, just as clearly, the few things it doesn't.

Boutique & heritage lodging

Four-star hotels across the route — colonial casonas in Villa de Leyva and Zipaquirá, a lakeside stay on Lago de Tota and the five-star Estelar Hotel y Centro de Convenciones in Paipa. Nine nights, double occupancy, all breakfasts, pools and thermal wet areas.

Full on-road support

Two guides riding with you on every stage — bilingual lead guide and local rider-mechanic — plus lead motorbike and support van always at the back of the pack.

The Legends Trail — tours & entries

Finca de Rigo, Egan Bernal's Zipaquirá, the Salt Cathedral, Nairo's Arcabuco, Gondava, catamaran on Lago de Tota, Pantano de Vargas, Pueblito Boyacense and Monguí — every entry included.

Curated Boyacá gastronomy

Eight lunches and seven dinners — authentic Boyacá flavours in harmony with international cuisine — plus daily regional snacks and stage-matched hydration.

The Gran Fondo course, guided

Stage 6 rides the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial course with the man who directs it — full route or Medio Fondo, crew on course. On the October departure: your official race entry.

Your ride, filmed

A photographer and videographer accompany all ten days — every climb, effort and triumph delivered to you as a personal photo & film archive.

Airport pickup & every transfer

Personal reception at Bogotá's El Dorado and a private van for every transfer across all ten days. You never think about logistics once.

Mechanics & medical cover

On-route mechanical assistance with daily bike wash and basic maintenance, plus medical and accident assistance cover for all ten days in Colombia — with cycling included as a listed sport, not excluded as a hazardous one.

NOT INCLUDED — International flights · Bike rental (premium carbon bikes available from our own fleet) · Spare parts · Two free-choice dinners in Villa de Leyva · Optional spa treatments, water sports and horseback riding in Paipa

The Rider welcome kit

RIDERS ONLY · NOT SOLD IN OUR STORE

Official RTA jersey — your kit for the week, and the proof you were here.

Ruana — the open-front wool cloak Boyacá has worn against the cold of the high country for centuries. Woven here.

Hoodie — for the páramo mornings and the flight home.

Official T-shirt — off the bike, still on the team.

Bidon — the one that rides every stage with you.

Surprises along the route — small things, handed over at the right moment.

Every piece personalised, made for the riders of each departure and kept off our merch store.

NINE NIGHTS · BOUTIQUE & HERITAGE

Sleep like you've earned it.

Five properties chosen the way we chose the roads — for character, for place, and for what your legs need next. Every night: breakfast included, water to soak in, and a crew already working on tomorrow.

BOGOTÁ · NIGHT 1

Movich Buró 26

Minutes from El Dorado International — you land, you're received, you rest. The journey begins on a full night's sleep.

ZIPAQUIRÁ · NIGHT 2

Camino de la Sal

A colonial-style casona in the salt city — steps from the plaza, and from the cathedral carved into the mountain beneath it.

VILLA DE LEYVA · NIGHTS 3–4

Hotel Getsemaní

A whitewashed casona around a flowering courtyard, cobblestones from the Plaza Mayor — heated pool, sauna and steam for post-stage legs.

LAGO DE TOTA · NIGHTS 5–6

Decameron Rancho Tota

On the lakeshore at 3,015 metres — wake to the water, roll out from the door. Your basecamp for the queen days.

PAIPA · NIGHTS 7–9

Estelar Hotel y Centro de Convenciones

The five-star resort on Lake Sochagota, fed by the thermal springs Paipa is famous for — jacuzzi, sauna, steam and massage for the closing days. Recovery, done properly.

FOUR & FIVE-STAR · DOUBLE OCCUPANCY · EVERY BREAKFAST INCLUDED · POOLS OR THERMAL WET AREAS AT EVERY RECOVERY STOP

YOUR GUIDE & CREW

The man who rode all of Boyacá.

Sergio — founder & lead guide

There are guides who know a route, and there are guides who know a territory — Sergio is the second kind. He'll read the páramo weather before it turns, point out where a national champion was born, and know which farmhouse pours the best aguapanela at kilometre 60. There's a difference between visiting Boyacá and discovering its true essence — we show you the latter.

YOUR CREW, EVERY STAGE

Bilingual lead guide — riding with you, reading the road.
Local rider-mechanic — riding with you, wrench at hand.
Lead motorbike — marking the route, positioning the photographer.
Support van — always at the back of the pack: spares, nutrition, and a lift whenever you want one.
Photographer & videographer — all ten days, capturing the story.

ALL 123 MUNICIPALITIES

Every municipality of Boyacá, ridden by bike — the origin of Ride The Andes. Territory learned kilometre by kilometre.

GRAN FONDO DIRECTOR

Ten editions directing the Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial since 2016 — 2,000+ riders a year. Your finale is his course.

INTERNATIONAL EXPERIENCE

Has worked with L'Étape Colombia and L'Étape Ecuador — the Tour de France's official gran fondo series.

BOYACÁ ROUTES

All six stages designed, ridden and field-verified by our own crew — published on Ride with GPS with full profiles.

> "Nosotros somos Boyacá." — We don't operate in this territory. We are this territory.

BALANCE

$4,000 · $3,500

Rider and companion, due 16 days before departure — the day sales close (January 6, 2027 for January). After the deposit window, pay in full.

HOW YOU PAY

PayPal · USD

Card & PayPal at ridetheandes.co. We absorb every gateway and currency fee — you pay the listed price.

Changed your mind? Free cancellation within 5 business days of booking — full refund, no deductions. After that, a published refund scale applies by proximity to departure, and you may transfer your place to another rider at no cost. If we cancel, you choose a 100% refund or a 110% credit toward a future edition. Full terms at ridetheandes.co. Ride The Andes S.A.S is a registered Colombian tour operator — RNT 296185.

FOUR WINDOWS IN 2027

The same ten days run four times. January is our main departure; in October, Stage 6 is race day at the eleventh Gran Fondo Boyacá Mundial.

22–31 JAN 2027 (MAIN) · 15–24 MAY 2027 · 20–29 AUG 2027 · 9–18 OCT 2027 (RACE WEEK)

BEFORE YOU RIDE

The practical answers.

How hard is it, honestly?

A genuine cycling tour for riders comfortable with multi-hour days and sustained climbing — roughly the fitness to ride 3–4 hours on consecutive days. You never need to race: the van is always behind you, and any stage can become a partial stage whenever you choose.

What about the altitude?

The route is sequenced to acclimatise you: lower valley stages first, the high country around Lago de Tota later, with a rest day exactly where it counts. Hydration and pacing are carefully managed; the crew watches the group closely.

My bike, or yours?

Both work. Bring your own bike — we receive it in Bogotá, build it, maintain it daily and pack it for your flight home. Or rent a professionally fitted premium carbon road or all-road bike from our own fleet (not included; reserved in advance).

January weather?

Boyacá's dry season: crisp mornings around 8–12°C, riding hours of 15–22°C and strong sun at altitude — late January brings Paipa about a third of October's rain days, though Lago de Tota stays changeable. Layers, leg warmers and a light shell; a full packing list comes with your confirmation.

Is the race part of it?

The race is in October, and it closes our 9–18 October departure with an official number. In January, May and August, Stage 6 rides the same course with its director — full fondo (143.6 km / +2,120 m) or Medio Fondo (103.2 km / +1,403 m), crew on course.

Who is this NOT for?

Honestly: riders looking for their first-ever cycling holiday, or for flat spins between cafés. This is real climbing at real altitude — earned, supported, and unforgettable. If you're in doubt, write us; we'll tell you straight.

What does the cover include?

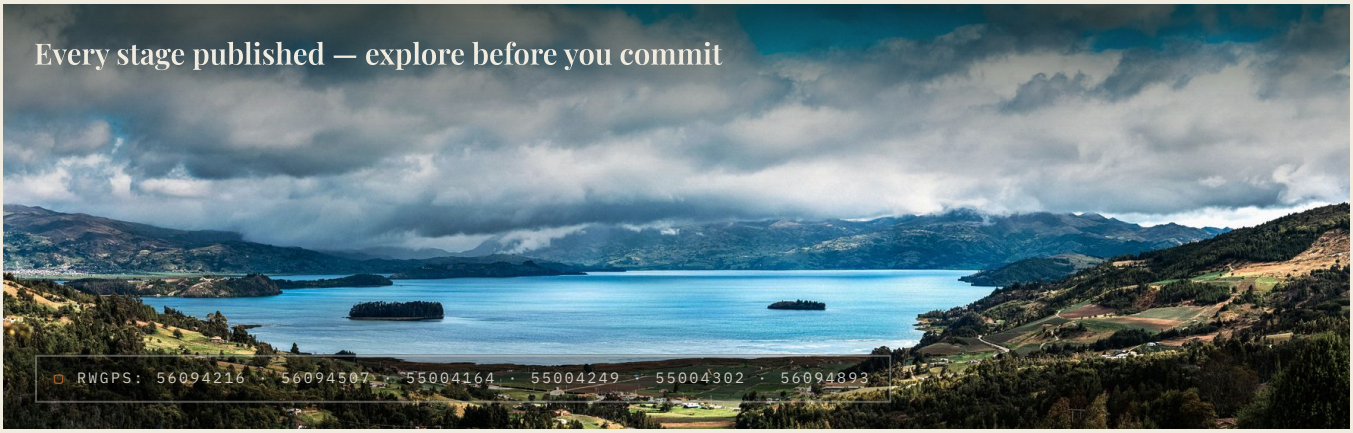

Medical and accident assistance for all ten days in Colombia, with road cycling expressly listed — not excluded as a hazardous sport, as many standard policies do. Full policy details come with your confirmation. It doesn't cover trip cancellation, so we recommend adding your own travel insurance for that.

Can I cancel?

Yes. Within 5 business days of booking, you get everything back — no deductions, no questions. After that a published scale applies, and at any point you can hand your place to another rider at no cost. Full terms live at ridetheandes.co.

✈ Plan your flights

Arrive: Friday, January 22 — any hour; we meet every flight at El Dorado (BOG). Depart: Sunday, January 31 — we reach the airport at 2:00 pm, so book flights leaving after 5:00 pm. That covers virtually every overnight direct to Europe and several afternoon departures to North America. Flying earlier? We'll gladly help you arrange an extra night in Bogotá (not included).

THE ANDES,
finally earned.
